In her hurried visits Christmas Eve down chimneys of the homes of Glendale it is safe to say that Santa Claus won't forget the kiddies who don't live in houses with chimneys.

How could he miss any of the little canvas homes after an invitation like this one he received yesterday via the Glendale post-office.

"Santa Claus, will you bring me and my sister candy canes and if you got any extra toys, well bring us some. I don't care what you bring. I am 8 years old and my sister is 4 years old. I live in the Community camp ground in the stripped tent."

The Evening News, Glendale's only daily paper that is 100 per cent loyal to the merchants of Glendale, and not organized to build up a circulation for a Los Angeles paper, offers its advertisers the largest bona fide list of subscribers of any newspaper circulating in Glendale.

Total paid advertising space for the past four months was more than 27 per cent greater than the Los Angeles Express insert.

Business men of Glendale are to be complimented for their good business judgment in recognizing the newspaper that is 100 per cent loyal to their interests.

Small Loss by Fire At Nurses' Quarters

What might but for prompt action have been a serious fire broke out at 7:35 o'clock last night in the nurses' quarters of the Glendale Research Hospital at 412 Piedmont park, when the heater in the basement burst into flames at the top, under the floor joists and girders.

Three units of the Glendale Fire department—ladder No. 1 and pumps No. 4 and No. 5—answered the call, but some one meanwhile had broken into a basement window with a garden hose and extinguished the blaze.

The firemen completed the work, made an inspection to insure that the fire was fully out, and returned with their unused equipment.

Fireman Fairfield states that in his estimation the extent of the damage was $25.

Uncle John Says--
Mary is quite enthusiastic about this movement for reviving the singing of Christmas carols. She goes around the house warbling some of the old favorites half the time. Mary was a fine singer in her day, led the Methodist choir back in Springfield when we was married, but I must admit her voice is a little cracked now. But Mary has got the Christmas spirit in her heart and that's what counts and her voice sounds mighty good to me.

XMAS PROGRAM AT CATHOLIC CHURCH IS ARRANGED

Big Oak Cross Will Be Installed; Make Plans For Musical Work

Christmas Sunday and Christmas Day are to be very full ones at the Holy Family Catholic church, according to the announcement made this morning by Father James S. O'Neill, parish priest, who took occasion to wish Glendale's happy Christmas and invite them to join with the parishioners in their holiday activities.

The big event of Sunday will be the service Sunday night at 7:45 o'clock, when Rev. Patrick O'Reilly, Jesuit missionary, who has been conducting the Mission at the church, will speak and bless the big oak cross to be installed in the church sanctuary as a souvenir of the Mission.

The cross was expected to arrive from Chicago in time for the closing of the Mission last week ago, but it was delayed in shipment and only arrived yesterday. It is twelve feet across and is to stand in the middle of the sanctuary.

Visits San Diego
Father O'Reilly has been spending several days in San Diego, but will return tomorrow preliminary to the service Sunday. He will leave early next week for his home in Portland, Oregon.

The other Sunday services will be as usual, masses at 6:30, 8 and 10:30 o'clock in the morning and Sunday school at 9 o'clock in the morning.

On Christmas morning Christmas carols are to be sung at the 5 o'clock mass by children of the school, directed by Miss Ada Gies. Later masses will be at 6, 8 and 10:30 o'clock with choral music directed by Edwin Albright, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Smith, organist.

Take Charge of Music
Mr. Albright and Mrs. Smith have just been secured to take charge of the church music. Mr. Albright is well known to Glendale and Los Angeles people as a vocalist of talent. He was until recently soloist at St. Vincent's church in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music in Detroit, Michigan. A special holiday announcement made by Father O'Neill is that he is to have an assistant pastor to assist him with the duties of the parish. Rev. Patrick Dunne, formerly of the Holy Cross church in Los Angeles, has been chosen for this position and has already taken up his work.

Arbuckle to Start Picture Immediately

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—When Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, film comedian, takes advantage of the opportunity granted him by Will H. Hays, whose word is law in the motion picture world, to work again at his chosen profession, he will return in the role of an actor and not as a director.

The much of Arbuckle's future plans were learned today from Joseph M. Schenck, his personal friend and adviser, who will employ him again.

Schenck stated that after the holidays, a new story will be secured as a starring vehicle for Arbuckle and that filming of it will start as soon as possible.

Arbuckle, still nonplussed at the sudden opening of the "closed road" by Hays, had little to say today. "Fatty" expressed regret he had not been allowed to make a Christmas picture to gladden the hearts of his child admirers.

"I have just been reading over and answering letters from little children asking if I was going to make a Santa Claus picture and wishing me a merry Christmas," said the comedian, as his old familiar "million dollar smile," a bit dusty and self-worn—but still the same smile—swept over his face.

Coming close on the heels of Hays' granting Arbuckle the right to work, it was learned that the woman's clubs throughout the country will renew their fight against the showing of Arbuckle's pictures.

SLAYER OF WIFE TO RECEIVE SECOND HEARING

MADERA, Cal., Dec. 21.—No date had been set today for the second trial of George Harlow for the murder of his wife, Clara, who was beaten to death by her husband after he found her in a compromising position with H. C. Blanchard in the Harlow home at North Fork, in the mountains near here, on the morning of October 22. The jury which gave him his first trial was unable to agree and was discharged. The jury, after twenty-two hours of deliberation, stood eight to four for acquittal. This ratio was a reversal of the repeated earlier ballots, which were reported as being in favor of conviction by a count of seven to five during the night and day the jury was out. Harlow's attorney claimed the man was temporarily insane at the time of the crime. The jury asked to have that portion of the court's instructions having to do with Harlow's insanity claim re-read to them. Balloting swung in favor of the slayer immediately afterward.

BURGLAR MAKES ESCAPE FROM S. F. CITY JAIL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—William J. Huff, 25, held in the city jail on seven charges of burglary, escaped early today in the first jail break in the history of the institution. Huff picked the bars off his jail cell door, sealed a vent pipe to the roof, and broke through a skylight to reach the outside. How he descended the six stories to the street is a mystery. Huff, an ex-convict, having once been sentenced to San Quentin for life from Stockton on a robbery charge and later paroled, is known to the police as a desperate gunman. He was arrested November 26 at a local rooming house with Clarence P. Murray on a tip from Eureka. Murray was shot in the struggle which followed when officers attempted to arrest the two men. Four burglary charges were preferred against Huff locally and bond was fixed at $40,000. Two burglary charges are pending in Portland, Ore., one in Eureka, Cal., and two in Oakland against the man. The opening in his cell door through which he escaped was but six by ten inches. How he secured the bar with which he pried apart the cell grating is unknown. Because of the difficulty he would have encountered in descending the sheer walls of the city prison, belief was expressed by Lieutenant James Boland of the city prison that he may be hidden within the institution watching an opportunity to make his break for the outside. A search of the prison is being made.

PROMINENT HARNESS DEALERS ARE INVOLVED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Civil and criminal suits against the United States Harness company of Ransom, W. Va., are being prepared by the department of justice and will be filed in a short time, it was stated today by Colonel Henry T. Anderson, special assistant to the attorney general, before the judiciary committee of the senate. The matter has been under investigation for many months, said Colonel Anderson, and decision has been reached to proceed. He declined to go into details as to the results of the investigation through fear of embarrassing the government in its suits. This contract of sale of surplus army harness has been one of the most criticized of all made by the war department. It involved a very large sum of money and a number of prominent leather dealers in the United States.

L. A. BANDIT GANG MAKES COMPLETE CONFESSION

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—The Jenks Harris bandit gang "came clean," and investigation of its career was closed today by deputy sheriffs. Four of the five men arrested confessed to the holdup of the Fillmore bank at Piru on December 11 and eight other "jobs." Wets Plan to Test Wright Enforcement

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 21.—With California's dry enforcement law—the Wright act—effective at midnight, the "wets" today laid plans for contesting its constitutionality.

With the stroke of midnight more than 5000 enforcement officers will be added to the prohibition forces through the law which makes all policemen, sheriffs, constables, district attorneys and judges in the state responsible for prohibition enforcement. The California United Protection association, an organization of "wets," planned today to test the law through an immediate arrest. An agent of the association is to walk into the hall of justice carrying a bottle of wine. Immediately following his arrest a writ of habeas corpus will be sought by Attorney William H. O'Brien from the supreme court, alleging the Wright law to be unconstitutional.

The San Francisco police department proceeded with its plans for rigid enforcement today. Chief Daniel O'Brien conferred with heads of departments and gave final instructions. Suspect lists already filed with headquarters in response to an order from Chief O'Brien are estimated to total 3,000.

According to reports, local bootleggers are incorporating into clubs, hoping thus to prevent search without a search warrant.

Christmas Bonus Proof of Good Profits and Big Revival in Trade

By EDWARD W. PILL, By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—The much sought after revival of trade is here at last.

Large profits and big business affords an extended period of strained relations and painful silence have joined hands and are once more traveling the smooth road of better times.

Prosperity is within hailing distance.

Such is not an official announcement given out at a corporation banquet, but a correct survey based upon a visit to the spinal column of America's business—Wall street.

The basis for making such a statement is that thing which is so close to the workingman's heart—the Christmas bonus. To the man who takes orders, as well as the high official who gives them, the end of 1922 means more money in his pocket.

Increase Bonuses
A canvass of Wall street banking and bond houses today showed that an increase from 15 to 20 per cent over the bonuses given out last year will be distributed among employees this Christmas.

The reason for these increased dividends is increased business.

Every large brokerage house and member of the New York Stock Exchange have made preparations to allot large proportions of this year's receipts among their employees.

Numerous firms which last year were unable to give out gratuities or bonuses to their help on account of low returns, report that from 8 to 12 per cent of their profits will be shared with attaches of their houses.

One banking house announced that each employee is to receive a Christmas gift in the form of 25 per cent of his salary at the end of this year.

Remarkable Change
Other financial houses, such as the Corn Exchange bank, Guarantee Trust, New York & Empire Trust, companies and Henry Clewes & Co. are preparing to distribute bonuses ranging from 6 to 15 per cent.

Brokerage firms reported that the last twelve months have seen a remarkable change in trade conditions and has so affected business as to give it the color it once radiated before the war.

Clark, Childs & Co., W. J. Wolf & Co., Hatch & Co., Hornblower, Weeks & Co., Taylor & Bates, and some of the other large houses on the exchange see large business which will be related to the pocketbooks of their employees.

GRAVITY SEWER SYSTEM WITH DISPOSAL PLANT SOUTHEAST OF LOS ANGELES IS RECOMMENDED

Expert Engineer Says Demands Will Make It Practically Impossible to Join With Lines at Mission Road and Macy

A GRAVITY sewer system ending in a disposal plant southeast of the city of Los Angeles was recommended last night at the city hall to the City Council and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce by J. B. Lippincott of Los Angeles, who is now giving expert engineering attention to the sewage problem of Glendale.

From investigation Mr. Lippincott stated that he had come to the conclusion that the Los Angeles sewer system at the junction of Mission road and Macy street, where it is proposed that Glendale's system should join it, would be practically 100 per cent full before the actual connection could be made.

After some discussion, the City Council decided to call in a body upon the Los Angeles City Council in the near future and ascertain: First, whether Los Angeles would permit Glendale to join its sewer system without annexation;

Second, whether Los Angeles would give Glendale permission to lay a sewer line through its streets to a disposal plant outside the city limits of Los Angeles.

E. A. Rowe, who has been assisting Mr. Lippincott in this investigation, was present last night and explained some of the details of the work. He will leave next Tuesday to visit a number of sewer systems throughout the United States.

All members of the City Council were present last night: Mayor Spencer Robinson, A. H. Lapham, Dwight W. Stephenson, S. A. Davis and C. E. Kimball.

The city administration was represented by City Manager W. H. Reeves, City Engineer Ben F. Dupuy, City Clerk A. J. Van Wier, City Attorney Hartley Shaw, and Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer.

The Chamber of Commerce was represented by President Jesse E. Smith, W. E. Hewitt, L. H. Wilson and Peter L. Ferry.

Others present were Attorney James F. McBryde, Attorney Eugene J. Wix and E. H. Clarkson, who has been assisting in the investigation.

Devotion of motor vehicle fees solely to road re-construction and maintenance.

Basing of registration fees on weight instead of horse-power with light passenger vehicles paying no more than at present.

Placing of motor vehicles operated for hire under state railroad commission jurisdiction with a tax percentage on the gross receipts.

Eagle Rock is to have a full-fledged juvenile band composed of boys and girls from the age of 6 to 16 years, is the announcement of W. H. Mr. Grohman immediately noticed the lack of such an organization upon arriving in Eagle Rock and set about to arouse interest in a band composed of boys and girls of the city. The first meeting was held at the Woman's Twentieth Century club house on Tuesday night. At that time fifteen boys and girls joined. Several more have become members since the Tuesday evening meeting.

Mr. Grohman is well pleased with the interest shown and hopes to have a real live juvenile band in Eagle Rock in the near future. Another meeting will be held at the club house on the night of December 26, for the purpose of perfecting the organization.

Volunteering his services to his country at the opening of the civil war Mr. Koenigstein served throughout the entire war as a member of the Forty-third Illinois regiment. During his service he had the honor of being a member of the escort at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Illinois.

It was while in the army that Mr. Koenigstein was wounded in an engagement in Arkansas. The bullet entered his left arm and had never been removed. Some years ago Mr. Koenigstein visited the scene of the battle and in company with comrades lived over the ways of the war.

LOCAL EDUCATORS HEAR WILL WOOD

State School Head Talks to Teachers' Association
At L. A. Meet

Glendale teachers attending the twenty-ninth annual session of the Southern Section of the California Teachers' association this morning in the Trinity auditorium, Los Angeles, heard Will C. Wood, superintendent of public instruction for the state of California, talk on "The California School System in 1933." He said, in part:

"A few days ago I declared in a public statement that the growth of the school system of Los Angeles county during the last five years was the most remarkable development of its kind in the history of the world. In five short years the average daily attendance in the schools of the county increased sixty-two per cent.

"The growth in Los Angeles county was the greatest growth in the state, but I might have included the whole state in the statement. Two years ago the growth in average daily attendance in the elementary schools of California was over ten per cent, last year seven per cent. The growth of average daily attendance in the high schools was approximately eighteen per cent during the past year.

"The remarkable growth is due largely to increase in population, but it is also due in no small degree to the enforcement of the compulsory education law, the improvement of rural schools, the establishment of Americanization and part-time classes and the improvement of high school courses and instruction.

"We can hardly expect that the growth will continue during the next ten years at the same ratio, but we may reasonably estimate that the enrollment in the kindergartens and elementary schools will increase at the rate of at least five and one-half per cent, and in the high schools at the rate of ten per cent.

"We may therefore look forward in 1933 to a high school enrollment in excess of five hundred thousand, and an elementary and kindergarten enrollment in excess of eight hundred and fifty thousand pupils. In other words, the school system of California in 1933 will enroll a total of at least one million three hundred and fifty thousand boys and girls.

"If history teaches anything, it teaches that human resources must be developed in a state to match the natural resources. Inasmuch as California has been so richly endowed by nature, there is laid upon her the duty of bringing forth men to match her resources. If she fails in this, she will fail to realize her highest destiny. Unless I mistake the genius of the people of California, there will be no turning back in the matter of maintaining the educational institutions of the state."

"TIGER WON'T ANSWER
HAYRE, France, Dec. 21.—Asked the precise results of his trip to America, former Premier Clemenceau said:

"It is not convenient to answer that. Furthermore, it wouldn't be very friendly towards America."

ENGINEER GIVES REPORT ON SEWER

Preliminary Statement Is Made to City Officials
By J. B. Lippencott

road following the easterly bank of the Los Angeles river to a point where a treatment plant would be constructed southeast of the city of Los Angeles. Three—The collection of the sewage of Glendale in an intercepting sewer and its delivery to a pumping station to be erected to discharge the sewage to a point in the San Fernando valley. At this point the city of Glendale to erect a suitable sewage disposal plant and discharge the purified effluent onto the porous sands of the San Fernando valley.

Heavy Demands

Taking these three propositions under serious consideration:

First—We have made investigations of the size, grades, capacities and present discharge through the sewer of the city of Los Angeles from the point where it has been suggested we could make delivery to the city of Los Angeles, through its connection with the present outfall sewer.

This so-called interceptor was constructed in the early 90's and is designed to accommodate the congested business districts of the city of Los Angeles, Boyle Heights section and the easterly residential portions of Los Angeles as far south as the corner of Main and Jefferson streets.

We have consulted the records of the city of Los Angeles and have made numerous measurements and observations of the present flow passing through this interceptor at various points along its line and we find that it is now loaded up to 70 per cent of its full capacity.

From reports of the Los Angeles city engineer we find that during the season 1919-20 this interceptor was 45 per cent full; in 1920-21, 59 per cent full; and we now estimate that it is 70 per cent full.

Projecting this rate of increase and delivery to this interceptor it will be completely filled by the year 1925, exclusive of any deliveries that may be made to it from the Glendale section.

If connections were made at the present time for 20,000 people in Glendale with this interceptor, it would be at the present time within 6 per cent of full at the point suggested.

It is our opinion that before it will be possible for the city of Glendale to vote the bonds and construct the main from Glendale to this connection near the corner of Macy and Mission road, at that time it would be impossible for this interceptor to afford relief to the 20,000 people suggested. In reaching this conclusion the time which will be consumed in the passage of the peak flow from the city of Glendale to the corner of Macy and Mission road, together with the periods of peak flow of the interceptor itself.

New Bond Issue

The $12,000,000 that has been voted during the present year by the city of Los Angeles for a new outfall to the sea does not provide for the construction of any interceptors or main laterals, which might be utilized for a connection by the city of Glendale.

The new outfall to the sea from the city of Los Angeles will begin near the corner of Western and Slauson avenues.

We have been informed by certain Los Angeles city officials that it is proposed that they will submit a new bond issue for approximately $5,000,000 to build such interceptors about the year 1925.

The question as to whether the City Council of Los Angeles that may be in office at that time would submit such proposal to the voters, or whether the voters would approve it if submitted, is, of course, problematical.

If these bonds were voted, there would remain an additional period of financing and construction, which probably would consume from one to two years more.

Unless some more feasible plan, with which we are not now familiar, can be advanced by the city of Los Angeles for a connection with its sewer system, we are of the opinion that this does not offer any means of substantial relief to the city of Glendale.

Best of Methods
Second—From estimates that we have made at the present time, the most economical as well as the most reliable method of disposal of sewage of Glendale would be the construction of a main from the southerly portion of the city down the San Fernando road and along the easterly bank of the Los Angeles river to a point southeast of the city of Los Angeles.

This project would involve the building of the sewer through the streets of the city of Los Angeles for a distance of approximately eight miles.

The question as to your legal rights in so proceeding is one which should be referred to your city attorney.

CHURCH PRESENTS CHRISTMAS PARTY

New Thought Sunday School
Heads Affair Tomorrow
At Beamon Home

The A. M. Beamon home, 202 North Maryland avenue, is to be the scene tomorrow night of the Christmas party of the New Thought Sunday school. It is to be an informal affair and everyone interested in New Thought are invited.

The program will begin at 7 o'clock and will include: Singing, "Joy to the World"; piano numbers, "The Little Italian," "Queen Mab" and "Jack in the Pulpit" by Elizabeth Burton; reading, "Christmas" by Grace Carmack; "Bunny Dance" by Elenor Marek; Song, "That Wonderful Tree" by John Page; reading, selected by Lolita Parker; singing, selected by Madame Isona de Bit; piano numbers, "Elf Man Serenade," "Rondellito" and "Soldiers" by George Burton; reading, selected by Donald Weber; piano duet selected by Florence Goblets and Miss Smith; reading, "Morning" by Dorothy Page; "Highland Fling" by Genevieve Marek; reading, selected by Frances Kidder.

MAY BE CLARA CLEW

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21—Sheriff William I. Traeger has wired the chief of police of Casper, Wyo., for further particulars of a "Mrs. Craig," who was questioned after Mrs. Clara Phillips' escape, believing her to be Peggy Buxton, a Long Beach girl who was in jail with Mrs. Phillips. The sheriff's office says she and a sailor may have information regarding the hiding place of the "hammer murderers."

Los Angeles from necessity must frequently require similar consideration.

We recommend that the City Council of Glendale communicate with the City Council of Los Angeles with a view of determining whether the Council of Los Angeles would grant a permit to the city of Glendale to lay a sewer through the streets of Los Angeles.

This should be done promptly before much time is spent in the further design of this system.

More Expensive
Third—The Glendale sewer might be pumped to the northwest of the city of Glendale about seven to ten miles from its business center and there disposed of.

In comparison with the other methods of disposal the first cost involved in this means is the lowest, but the annual cost of pumping would make its ultimate cost the most expensive.

If these works were constructed to provide immediate relief they could be designed so that it within a period of five or ten years the city of Los Angeles constructed an interceptor sewer from the end of the outfall sewer up to the San Fernando valley, as has been proposed, the major portion of the constructed line could be utilized in a connection thereto, if it were deemed desirable at that time.

In designing the necessary works required for the disposal at the sewer farm, we have consulted with the officials of the State Board of Health and feel assured that their approval will be secured.

In Need of Permit

Conclusion—From the studies that have been made by us to date, we are of the opinion:

First—That substantial relief can not be offered adequately by the city of Los Angeles to the city of Glendale in accordance with any plan that has been suggested to us.

At some future date when Los Angeles has built an adequate intercepting sewer, such connection may be entirely advisable.

Second—Apparently the most acceptable method of sewage disposal is by means of a gravity main line from Glendale to a point southeast of the city of Los Angeles, together with a sewage disposal plant in that neighborhood.

It is quite possible that other rapidly growing communities in that general neighborhood, which are now without sewers, would join with Glendale in such a project.

From legal advice which we now have it appears that the feasibility of this project is dependent upon the granting of a permit by the city of Los Angeles to the city of Glendale to lay sewers on streets approximately along the easterly bank of the Los Angeles river.

Negotiations for the securing of this permit should be promptly initiated.

Third—Assuming that the above mentioned permit can not be obtained from the city of Los Angeles, we are of the opinion that it is feasible to collect, pump and dispose of the sewage of Glendale north of the city of Glendale within reasonable limits of expense.

The major portion of these works can be ultimately utilized for connecting up with the sewer system of the city of Los Angeles when it is adequately constructed.

This would probably be when the proposed intercepting sewers are extended by the city of Los Angeles either into the San Fernando valley or in the river bottom areas south of Griffith park.

We intend to make an extended study immediately of various sewage disposal plants throughout the United States, giving special attention to pumping projects.

This preliminary report will be followed by plans and estimates and a final report at some later date.

Real Christmas Spirit
Holiday Syndicate?
Printer Is 'Promoted'
Woman On Their Trail

By Gil A. Cowan

WITH the Merry Christmas season in full swing things look mighty good around town.

The bright and shining faces of the little fellows who linger long around the windows of the stores make one feel as though he, too, would like to be a child again.

Verily, there is something about Christmas—and that word means a lot to the person who analyzes its fullest meaning—that gives youth and vigor to our actions and brings a realization of duty to one's fellowman.

As we grow older there is an inclination to forget others in the busy whirl of the world—except at this Merry Christmas time. Then there comes a feeling of good will that seems to take possession of the very person and away most of us go into the ecstasy of giving that certainly cramps the pocketbooks and gives cause for resolutions on New Year's, which, good as they may be, are broken along with the rest each year.

For those readers who as yet have not reached the stage of buying fever, let it be suggested that you had better get to the stores and see what they have got for you to give.

For, certainly, ye shall do unto others as they do unto you.

However, in the matter of Christmas sentiment there should be a syndicate, similar to the idea with which news is handled.

Instead of us cluttering the poor mailman with a lot of sentimental little things which are valueless after the day, why not have the Christmas spirit evidence itself in more material things for those who are dear to us and let the nice little subtleties be broadcast by radio. It would be so simple, don't you think?

Of course, you think not. Personality is the thing. Exactly. We agree with you. You cannot syndicate personality, but you can sell oil or groceries or material commodities that way.

So there you are. The syndicate idea is all blown up. It is for that very reason that newspapers do not depend on any one service to suffice. Indeed, most of them have their own special reporters covering that which is of utmost interest.

It is interesting to read that Edgar Howard of Columbus, Neb., who started in life as a "tramp printer" is to sit in congress.

By golly, these printers sure are rising in the world. The president of the United States is a printer. The governor of the state of California, after the first of the year, served his apprenticeship in a newspaper office. So did the governor of Kansas, who retires.

The president of the Los Angeles city council is a printer. Verily, there must be something potent about printer's ink in politics that makes that devilish little X mark climb right over a lawyer's frame and land on the poor printer.

Perhaps it is his "poor" qualification that lends to the public mind a feeling of security, for few newspaper men who rise to fame can be "bought."

Their services, with the perquisites of practical education and keen analytical minds, are for sale, however, to a public good. At least that's the way one of them sizes up the situation.

Some place in California the sun is always shining at its regularly appointed hours, although that place is not the same each day.

For instance, while it was raining along the coast recently the Imperial Valley was enjoying a winter climate which would compare with the Indian summer of Illinois and Indiana.

It may be blowing a gale in San Francisco today, yet it is calm elsewhere in California. Or it may be foggy in Hollywood and dry in Altadena.

The Bear state is chameleon colored, however, it comes to climate, you will have to admit.

Friend Richardson, the governor-elect, has a woman on the trail of "The Spenders."

What wonderful discernment on the part of the mere man?

Evidently he believes "it takes a thief to catch a thief," and a woman qualifies, in most instances, as the best spender.

Also, she qualifies in the matter of economy if you will follow the bargain counter crowds.

One merchant remarked to me that it was the wind-up of Christmas when he made his profit. Yea, brothers. "The men come in and don't care what the price of their gift may be," he said, "just so it satisfies."

GREAT BRITAIN GAINS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Possessing four times as many steel sea-going merchant ships over 10,000 tons as the United States, Great Britain already has a great second line of maritime defense which would place American nation at a great disadvantage in the event of war. Senator Calder, Republican of New York, told the senate this afternoon in urging the passage of the ship subsidy bill as a "preparedness measure of the utmost importance."

BEAUTY CHATS

MEMBER OF ASTOR FAMILY

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHEN BEAUTY IS DIFFICULT

As the time for the arrival of the baby approaches the young mother will find it increasingly difficult to keep herself pretty, or even to take sufficient interest in herself to make the effort at prettiness! That won't matter so much, if she makes the proper efforts after the child is born, to retain her young figure and her youthful charm. For the months before are neither long nor many, and anything, almost, is to be forgiven during this time.

However, we'll talk about the after months later. It's the months before that we are specially interested in now. I suggested wearing snoods to conceal the figure. I'd suggest, too, making a couple of pretty negligees during the early months later making anything becomes an effort. Pleated crepe de chine that hangs from the shoulders, having over it a coat of all-over lace, ribbon edged and falling to the knees makes a good negligee that helps conceal the figure and is especially attractive at this time. Draped dolman style negligees are ideal now also.

Dainty, flimsy silk underwear must go during this period, so must high heel shoes. It may be hard to take an interest in one's clothes when they begin with a part woolen union suit—but even this may be pink in color and fine at. Maternity corsets are no uglier than any other sorts. Straight chemises and petticoats on silk bodices are as pretty as two-piece combinations with knickers, and petticoats on elastic—both barred during this period because they bind the figure.

As for shoes—low heels come on very smart lasts, and wool-and-silk stockings are as good looking as all silk for outdoor wear. Indoors, one may still wear sheer silk if the house is kept warm.

Teeth—The rolling toothbrush is very difficult to obtain in America now as they have not been imported since the war. The Lady Violet Astor, wife of Major John Jacob Astor, who recently announced his intention of transferring his wealth from this country to England. Recently he purchased a part interest in the London Times for $6,000,000.

SURPRISING OR SURPRISED

Did you ever plan a surprise for anyone? Of course you have. And isn't it the best fun in the world?

Did you ever have a surprise planned for you? Of course you have. And was it as much fun? Not quite? I thought not.

Now, one more question. Do you trim the Christmas tree as a surprise for the children or do you let them do it as a surprise for you?

And All the Time

I know a great many homes in which the grown ups, under pretense of doing something for the children, keep the little ones out of the living room until they have the tree all trimmed so that it may burst upon them in its full glory Christmas Eve or Christmas morning.

They rush about, those grown ups, plotting and planning with the greatest air of mystery; their laughter comes tantalizing from behind closed doors to the children longing to get into the forbidden room. They have a wonderful time, these grown ups, over the tree, and all the time they think they are doing it just to give the children the joy of having the tree burst upon them in its full glory. As if they couldn't give them five times as much pleasure either by letting them share in the fun of trimming the tree or do it all themselves as a surprise for the grown-ups.

Last year I brought up this case of the children versus grown-ups in Christmas tree rights, and I received the two following very interesting letters. I refer my misguided grown-ups, who still are greedy enough to keep the fun of tree trimming to themselves, to these letters:

The Most Fun of All

"Dear Miss Cameron: It has always been my custom to let my children direct the planning and help trim their Christmas tree. I have never met anyone who thought this was the proper thing to do, so naturally your article of the 23rd was of much interest to me. My oldest boy is 5, the next one 3 years of age, and they seem to enjoy their tree more than any of their playmates enjoy their respective trees.

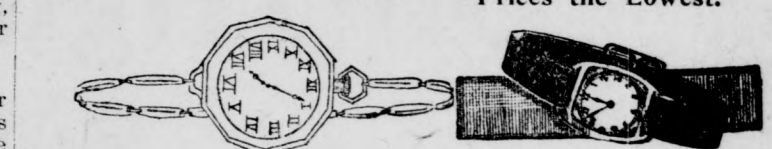

"You know that after a day their toys seem old, but they seem to always find something different on the tree. They know the ornaments they themselves have hung, but are always surprised to

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. E.—I am preparing a little pamphlet relating to disorders peculiar to women. I shall notify you in the column when it is ready, so you can send for it. You will find if you reduce your weight gradually that you will undoubtedly feel very much better, and the symptoms you describe will be lessened. Have you had a complete physical examination?

"Dear, dear Dr. Lulu"—In nine weeks I have reduced 25 pounds by your system and I have not found it a bit hard. Will you write on bronchitis in children? Devoted Follower."

That is an uncommonly nice salutation. Thank you.

If chronic bronchitis is not due to tuberculosis or heart disease, it may be due to some sort of food poisoning. It has been found that certain proteins in the food that are absorbed undigested will cause the skin and mucus membranes to be sensitive and this may cause asthma and bronchitis. Eczema may be present from the same cause.

If you have had a physical examination to eliminate tuberculosis and heart disease, then see if you cannot determine whether there is some special food that is disagreeing with your body. Have him take special exercises to develop the chest muscles. Of course all other hygienic precautions should be taken also. I shall have a paper shortly on these disorders.

Reader—You say you have reduced before with bad effects. I hear that continuously from my followers, combined with the news that since they have reduced scientifically by counting their calories and having a balanced diet that supplies the needs of the body, the reduction this time has been productive only of good results. Send for our instructions.

on reducing if you haven't them.

Mrs. L. G.—Most any of the hydro-therapeutic sanitariums such as the Battle Creek Sanitarium have apparatus for reducing. The rolling machines and the deep massage and the electric vibratory chair machines all are good in skillful hands. You will have to diet anyway, even with those. But the fact that you are paying out money may keep your will power a little less anemic. These mechanical things are especially good when there are conditions that prohibit exercise.

The value of an ice cream soda would depend upon how such syrup, ice cream and whipped cream were used. I gave this recently but it won't hurt to repeat. Thick syrup would be about 100 calories for a heaping teaspoonful. The caloric value of ice cream would depend upon its richness, whether it was made from milk and eggs, or cream. A heaping tablespoon of ordinary ice cream would be approximately 100 calories. I should judge an ice cream soda from 400 to 500 calories at least, equal to one-eighth of a pound of fat.

When I tell you that I get hundreds of letters in every mail you won't be so vexed because your answer did not appear sooner, will you?

Mrs. L.—If your face is thin and you are fat only below the waist, you probably will lose very little from the face if you reduce. I should not worry about it. Go out after dark or some place where you won't be observed and take long brisk walks with a long stride. That is one of the best exercises for the hips and waist. One looks far from graceful walking as I suggest, but it sho' do shake yo' hips and fat tummie.

tato shells with the mixture, place on pan and run in oven to reheat and brown. Serve hot.

Vegetable Salad—Mix one cup of cold, boiled turnips, diced, one cup of cooked (or canned) string beans with one medium-sized green pepper, which has had the seeds and veins removed, parboiled and chopped fine, all together; add French dressing to moisten well and let stand in cold place for one hour. When ready to serve, drain, serve on lettuce leaves with cooked salad dressing.

Pumpkin Pie—Put one cup steamed and strained pumpkin in bowl, add two-thirds cup sugar, one cup milk, one-eighth teaspoon each of salt, cinnamon and nutmeg and then add three well beaten eggs. Pour into pie pan lined with rich paste and bake in moderate oven until done, when tested with knife thrust in center and it comes out clean.

APACE WITH PROGRESS

WITH the march of progress the plumbing industry has kept pace.

It has gone forward in standards, in ideals, in the personnel of its membership, in the skill and character of its workmanship and in its manufactured product.

It is proud of the strides it has made.

Today the plumber's greatest asset is reputation. Greater than his stock in trade; greater than his capital.

Therefore, to foster these ideals; to elevate these standards to an even higher plane, 200 plumbing concerns in Southern California have organized the Sanitary Development League.

Members are pledged to maintain the highest standards and ideals of this great industry. In turn the organization stands solidly behind the product and workmanship of members.

This, their first message to the public, is not complete.

It will be continued in the columns of this newspaper and others from time to time. It is a worth-while message. Read it.

Warner Bros. Take Scenes For 'Brass' on Grounds Of Bolen Property

The J. L. Bolen estate, 132 Wabasso way, yesterday looked like a scene for a motion picture—and for a very good reason, as that was precisely the use to which it was being put. The beautiful, winding paths, grassy lawns and sunken gardens, with the picturesque little bungalow set like a jewel in the midst of a bower of live oaks, palms and rose bushes, were descended upon by a troupe of twenty players of national prominence, including Monte Blue, Harry Myers, Miss Dupont and Ethel Grey Terry, who had selected the location for a sequence in the forthcoming Warner Brothers' production of the popular Charles Norris novel, "Brass."

All day they worked like a swarm of busy bees, backed up by a corps of directors, assistant directors, cameramen, technical directors, electricians, carpenters, grips and what not, together with lights, reflectors and other paraphernalia of the cinema art.

WORK ON THEATRE SLATED TO START

Contractors Expect to Begin Erection of 'Gateway' Before Saturday

Work on the new Gateway Theatre, to be erected on South San Fernando boulevard, just across the street from the public market, will begin before the end of the week, states Richard R. F. Lehman, engineer for the Winter Construction company, which is erecting the structure.

This company is the builders of the new Grauman Theatre at Sixth and Hill streets, Los Angeles, and also of the Angelus Temple Theatre on Glendale boulevard at Echo Lake park. The theatre at San Fernando near Brand, which will be ready for business about May 1, will be semi-mission in type, with stucco front and red tile roof, and will seat 900 people. Fred Miller, of the California and other Los Angeles theatres, is one of the group erecting the present structure.

NEW 'STAR' AUTO TO LOCATE HERE

Dilley & Armstrong to Open Agency Soon at 115 West Harvard

The latest addition to the automobile family in Glendale is the "Star," popular priced light car just introduced by W. C. Durant, famous producer of automobiles. A shipment of these cars will be here next week, and will be on display at the company's place of business at 115 West Harvard. This is the former home of the "Oakland." It is being decorated and prepared for the new occupants.

Incidentally this will bring to Glendale two new families, Messrs. C. A. Dilley and J. F. Armstrong, who for the past two years have been distributors for the Nash in Kern county, will represent the Star in Glendale and vicinity.

Are Experienced Dealers

These men have had a long experience in the automobile business, and were formerly located in Los Angeles and San Diego. They succeeded J. F. Lilly, well known here, as agents for the Nash line in Bakersfield, and Mr. Lilly remained with them for a year after they had purchased the Kern County Agency.

Mr. Lilly has recently returned to his home here and is busy in assisting his former associates in getting the preliminaries ready for the opening of the Star agency here next week.

The exact date of the new automobile agency will be announced later through the medium of the press, Mr. Lilly states.

HOME TOWN XMAS MAIL DUE TODAY

First Big Consignment for Glendale Landed in
L. A. Last Night

The first large consignment of Christmas mail for Glendale will arrive in the city some time today, according to advice received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

The consignment, which comprises ten carloads, arrived in Los Angeles last night. Captain Jackson says the delivery of the Christmas packages will undoubtedly be started late tomorrow.

Due to the fact that the last batch of outgoing holiday mail was cleaned up Tuesday night, Captain Jackson asserts his clerical staff is ready to dig into the "home town sacks" just as soon as they arrive.

All of the mail received will be dispatched at once to the "evening" room of the Union high school, where a large force will be concentrated to route and deliver the packages. From today on Postmaster Jackson believes the influx of Christmas mail will approximate ten or twelve cars a day, maybe more.

As a precautionary measure, he

L. A. De Long to Purchase Home Here

L. A. de Long states that he is concluding arrangements for the purchase of a home here, in order that he as well as the Associated Oil company, of which he is manager for this city, may be permanently located in Glendale.

Associated is advancing steadily in public favor and "Cycol," the lubricating oil put out by this company, went over the top with a rush from the first day it was put on the market. Manager de Long states.

Prestons Find Surf Cold in December

The southern California surf in December is not exactly like a steam-heated bath tub, reports Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston, of 330 North Jackson street, who ventured to take a plunge during their week-end at Hermosa Beach, where they have a cottage. But with a warm sun and balmy breezes for allies, they claim the experiment was a success and recommend it strongly to all those in search of a little holiday tonic.

says the two special Pacific Electric cars, which were put in service Tuesday to augment the delivery of Glendale mail, will be held on the job until Christmas.

ERECTION OF NEW EDIFICE RUSHED

Work on Presbyterian Church Building Progressing at Full Speed

Work on the new Presbyterian church on the northwest corner of Louise and Harvard street is now going ahead at full speed, according to Robert Bird of Los Angeles, superintendent of construction for Architect Robert H. Orr.

George D. McDill of 1451 East Wilson avenue, who is acting as the business agent for the board of elders, states that the construction work was keeping right up to its schedule.

Mr. Bird says much work will be effected next week if inclement weather does not interfere with the progress. He asserted that the dampness had prevented more than one day's work last week.

Foreman C. N. Miller of Eagle Rock is now supervising a crew of eleven bricklayers. Seven carpenters are on the job also.

Flooring in Place
The rough flooring of the main auditorium has now been in place for some time. As soon as the joists arrive the rough flooring of the Sunday school department will be laid, Mr. Bird said.

The main girder which will support the balcony is now being observed with interest by persons passing the church. This is more than fifty-five feet long and weighs almost six and one-half tons.

A number of window frames have been received on the job already, and as rapidly as the brick work will permit they will be installed. Within a few days all basement casings will be in place.

The pulpit platform is now surfaced with a rough flooring, and the skeleton framework of the vestry rooms is noticeable.

Change in Meeting Place Made by Club

At the invitation of Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain, the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet next Tuesday afternoon at the Pearl Keller studio, 109-A North Brand boulevard, instead of in the Masonic Temple as is the custom. The program is to be given by children of the club members and will begin at 2:30 o'clock. The community singing hour will be omitted.

Mrs. Freeman McG. Kelley, program chairman of the club, hints at a clever and interesting juvenile program. The club members are anticipating the annual affair with great pleasure.

Mrs. Brattain's donation of her hall for the program was a holiday courtesy, and the club officers are greatly pleased over it.

Less fortunate children are to be special guests of the club. Members and their children have been asked to bring gifts for the little visitors.

Livestock Will Be Shipped to China

PAWHUSKA, Okla.—A pair of prize Poland-China hogs probably will be included in a shipment of blue-ribbon livestock which is to be sent from this country to China in an effort to inject new life into China's rapidly dwindling livestock industry.

The firm of Albert & Sons, breeders of fancy hogs, has received a letter from Walter E. Chamberlain, of the agricultural department of the University of Peking, asking that the pair of hogs be sent.

The shipment, scheduled to be made early next month, is expected to form the foundation on which the depleted Chinese stock industry will be rebuilt.

All of the stock is to be gratuitous and shipment will be free on one of the big transatlantic steamship lines. Persons interested in the development of the Far East are to defray cost of feed during transit.

The Glendale The T. D. & L.

A joyous leap away from the conventional run of motion pictures is found in "The Right That Failed," the new Metro film starring Bert Lytell, to be seen today at the Glendale theatre. Bayard Veiller, author of "The Thirteenth Chair," "Within the Law" and other notable stage successes, and producer of many thrilling pictures, has done some very fine work in this instance.

Bert, in the role of Johnny Duffey, the "highbrow" pugilist in love with the society girl at the summer resort, was never more delightful. Virginia Vall, one of the most beautiful actresses on the screen, takes the part of the society girl; and Otis Harlan, that retound little veteran of stage and screen, plays Johnny's father rollickingly.

A film to make you forget the little worries of the day.

Rodolph Valentino, in Paramount's lavish production, "The Young Rajah," opens at the T. D. & L. theatre today. That bare announcement should suffice to inform all picturegoers that a really great photodrama is in Glendale. The story is from the celebrated American novel "Amos Judd," by J. A. Mitchell, and the adaptation by June Mathis, foremost scenarist in the studios and the talented creator of the continuity for "The Four Horsemen," "Blood and Sand" and other Valentino pictures.

The great Latin-American star is supported by Wanda Hawley, a star in her own right, and by a cast that includes Charles Ogle, Bertram Grassby and many others.

Such a combination of star, story, cast, scenario and production cannot make anything short of the great film that "The Young Rajah" is.

CHAPTER III.

"Five Hundred Dollars Reward!"

"We kept a-rambling all the time. I rustled grub, he rustled rhyme," quoted Billy Byrne, sitting up and stretching himself. His companion roused and came to one elbow. The sun was tapping the scant wood behind them, glinting on the surface of the little creek. A robin hopped about the sward quite close to them, and from the branch of a tree a hundred yards away came the sweet piping of a song bird. Farther off were the distance-subdued noises of an awakening farm. The lowing of cows, the crowing of a rooster, the yelping of a happy dog just released from a night of captivity.

Bridge yawned and stretched. Billy rose to his feet and shook himself.

"This is the life," said Bridge. "Where you going?"

"To rustle grub," replied Billy. "That's my part of the sketch."

The other laughed. "Go to it," he said. "I hate it. That's the part that has come nearest making me turn respectable than any other. I hate to ask for a hand-out."

Billy shrugged. He'd done worse things than that in his life, and off he trudged, whistling. He felt happier than he had for many a day. He never had guessed that the country in the morning could be so beautiful.

Behind him his companion collected the material for a fire, washed himself in the creek, and set the tin can, filled with water, at the edge of the kindling, and waited. There was nothing to cook, so it was useless to light the fire. As he sat there, thinking, his mind reverted to the red mark upon Billy's wrist, and he made a wry face.

Billy approached the farmhouse from which the sounds of awakening still emanated. The farmer saw him coming, and ceasing his activities about the barnyard, leaned across a gate and eyed him sharply, none too hospitably.

"I wanna get something to eat," explained Billy.

"Got any money to pay for it with?" asked the farmer quickly.

"No," said Billy; "but me partner an' me are hungry, an' we gotta eat."

The farmer extended a gnarled forefinger and pointed toward the rear of the house. Billy looked in the direction thus indicated and espied a woodpile. He grinned good-naturedly.

Without a word he crossed to the corded wood, picked up an ax which was stuck in a chopping block, and, shedding his coat, went to work. The farmer resumed his chores. Half an hour later he stopped on his way in to breakfast and eyed the growing pile that lay beside Billy.

"You don't hev to chop all the wood in the county to get a meal from Jed Watson," he said.

"I wanna get enough for me partner, too," explained Billy.

"Well, yew've chopped enough for two meals, son," replied the farmer, and turning toward the kitchen door, he called: "Here, Maw, fix up this boy suthin' 'c'at—enough for a couple of meals fer two on 'em."

As Billy walked away toward his camp, his arms laden with milk, butter, eggs, a loaf of bread and some cold meat, he grinned rather contentedly.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—Thomas Horgan, Boston correspondent, writes that Boston girls have declared war on the flit. Among other subjects the correspondent discourses on the effects of prohibition on the florist business. Minus cocktails young swains of Boston are not nearly so prone to purchase posies, says this observer.

TOMORROW—The President of the United States is a virtual oracle in the minds of many thousands of citizens, indicates George R. Holmes, Washington correspondent, who points out a few of the questions people ask of the president—and expect to have answered.

By THOMAS HORGAN

For International News Service

BOSTON, Dec. 21.—Boston

girls have declared war on the flit. That their crusade may have the semblance of united action they have adopted as an insignia a button on which is depicted a lizard impaled on a hatpin. Whether the boys with the patent leather hair may expect a similar fate is not stated by the fair crusaders. Leaders of the movement state there is no membership limitation and no dues.

That the slacker is no more welcome in the Hub now than he was during the war is shown by the action of Judge Morton, who in the last few days in the United States district court has denied citizenship to hundreds of applicants who claimed exemption from military service. During one session Judge Morton refused final citizenship papers to 182 applicants and at another 179 were turned away, mainly for unpatriotic attitudes during the war.

No one disputes the benefits of prohibition, but here is one of its evils—so says pretty Miss Marion Bush, who presides at a flower stand in a well known Back Bay hotel. The boys have lost their fine eye for beauty in blossoms since they have lost their evening cocktail. In the old days, Miss Bush says, they bought flowers in about the following ratio: A dozen pinks on one cocktail. Bunch of violets on two. Orchids on three.

Now, she says, they pass the flower stand with dry lips and dry eyes.

"As a business woman," Miss Bush continued, "I can say that more flowers were sold when the same high ball meant something more than grape juice and ginger ale."

A story is going the rounds that tends to prove what a dangerous calling is that of the man who is expected to enforce prohibition. Obviously names must be omitted. The enforcement agent in question succeeded in getting himself into the confidence of the proprietor of a well-patronized establishment in which the chief industry was the evasion of prohibition. Said agent procured for himself one drink and then announced the proprietor was "pinched." The patrons became so indignant they chased the agent up the street, at frequent intervals hurled bricks and other missiles. When finally overhauled the agent presented so sad a sight his captors were moved to pity and taking him back to the aforesaid establishment "bought him a drink" and sent him home.

The only resident of State street's financial district is dead. John M. Varnum, 87, who for twenty years maintained his living quarters and office at No. 7 State street, succumbed to pneumonia after a short illness. Varnum, who was engaged in an investment security business, had refused to heed the urgings of his friends that he move to a residential section of the city. He was one of the oldest Yale students.

Permit us to introduce George Owen in another role, one from which he has received less publicity than that in which he appeared at New Haven recently when he made a sixty-five-yard run and touchdown for Harvard against Yale. Every Sunday George tackles the devil. In other words, George takes a Sunday school class composed of twenty-five West Newton High school students, members of the Second Congregational church. It is said parents of members of George's class have no trouble persuading their sons to attend.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

RADIO RECEIVERS

Singularly well built, exceptionally durable and permanently adjusted for maximum sensitivity, the Murdock No. 55 radio receivers are offered at prices made possible solely by the fact that manufacturing processes have been simplified by years of experience so that production in large quantities means saving in costs. It has been a constant source of surprise to those who appreciate the real efficiency of these headsets that such results could be secured from receivers selling for less than half what is asked for sets of equal and in some cases inferior worth.

Each individual receiver equipment is tested thoroughly after assembly. Our method of test involves the use of a non-varying oscillatory current at 1,000 cycles. Test is made for maximum sensitivity as well as for uniformity of tone in each receiver of a double set.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

HISTORY OF RADIO

Prof. J. A. Fleming, after associating himself with Marconi, developed what is known as the "Fleming valve." This invention was to be the most important development in the radio field.

The Fleming valve was inspired from the effects of the Edison incandescent electric lamp and takes us into a study of the "electron theory." Thomas Edison, the inventor of the lamp, had experimented in its pioneer days and discovered that by placing a plate within a bulb, separate and untouching the filament, a flow of electrons was observed from the filament to the plate.

Fleming, casting about for an improved detector, studied this effect and discovered that this flow of electrons was always in the same direction and of a negative nature, flowing from the heated filament to the cold plate. This flow could be controlled by inserting a rheostat in the filament circuit and increasing or decreasing the filament current. These valves when properly constructed made excellent detectors for "spark" radio signals.

After Fleming's valve came the discovery by Dr. Lee DeForest of the "three element" vacuum tube, which he called an "audion." DeForest inserted what he termed a "grid" between the filament and plate. This was possibly the most important discovery yet made in the new science of radio, and during the years of the world war was to revolutionize the art. With the coming of the audion methods of amplifying or increasing the intensity of radio signals were devised.

One method of amplification, discovered by Armstrong, then a Columbia university student, was the "feed-back" or "regenerative" circuit which is now almost universally used in radio practice.

A full description of vacuum tubes and associated circuits is not intended here, but will be found under that caption in the practical course which follows. (Continued in Next Issue)

Manhole Clogged With Angle Worms

WHEELING, W. Va.—Here is a story that will do either for a fisherman's dream or a case of the jim jams. It is told as gospel truth by Service Director Sweeney, of Martins Ferry, on the Ohio side. He was called upon to investigate the clogging of a manhole at the North school-house there. He and an assistant went to the place armed with tools to extricate whatever could have filled a three-foot pipe. They found three huge masses of slimy, wriggling, fishing worms, weighing altogether 800 pounds, each shaped like a bundle of bananas and each being larger than a man. It was found, according to Mr. Sweeney, that the worms had crawled into the manhole from the roots of a nearby tree where they had bred.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS CANDY

"It's getting nearer! It's getting nearer!" said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day in the hollow stump bungalow.

"What is," asked Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his pink nose.

"Christmas candy," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper with a laugh that made her tail jiggle and quiver. "Did you think I meant the old Wozzie Wolf was coming nearer, Uncle Wiggily?"

"For a moment I thought perhaps that is what you meant," spoke the bunny rabbit. "But I'm glad you didn't."

"And aren't you glad Christmas is coming?" asked Nurse Jane.

"I should say I am!" cried Mr. Longears.

Well, there are a few more things that need bringing in before we can say that we are prepared for Christmas," went on Nurse Jane.

"Well, I have the tree," said Uncle Wiggily, counting up on his paws, "and Mr. Wintwash gave me the candy. What are we to have the chimney for Santa Claus to come down and—"

"You're forgetting all about the candy," cried the muskrat lady as Uncle Wiggily stopped to think.

"Oh, so I am. Candy, of course!" exclaimed the bunny. "I should have said Christmas without candy. And holly. I must get some branches of the holly plant, with their green leaves and bright red berries."

"Well, get the holly, but don't forget the candy," warned Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy as Uncle Wiggily hopped away over the fields and through the woods.

The bunny rabbit first went to the candy shop, where he bought a box of the very finest sort of Christmas sweets. He got kinds galore, and among the specialties he did not did Uncle Wiggily forget the animal children. He bought candy carrots for Sammie and Susie Littlebell, the rabbits; he bought candy bones for Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppies; he bought golden yellow candy corn kernels for Lulu and Alvin, the twins; he bought the ducks and for Johnnie and Billie Dushytail, the squirrels. Uncle Wiggily bought candy shaped like lickery nuts, butternuts and chestnuts.

"Oh, this will be a happy Christmas!" sang Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he winked his pink nose sort of sideways to show how glad he was. Then he caught sight of some green leaves and red berries on the edge of the forest, and he said:

"That is where the holly grows. I must bring Nurse Jane some joyfully holly to make into wreaths."

But, as the bunny rabbit hopped toward the holly bush, or tree, whichever you like to call it, Uncle Wiggily thought of what sharp stickery points there were on the edges of the green leaves, and Mr. Longears said to himself:

"I must put on my gloves to rather the holly, otherwise I'll be stuck full of sharp slivers, as the bear's paw was stuck full of the spines of Mr. Porcupine Pincushion."

Uncle Wiggily put on his gloves and he was just going to put the care, I don't know. But the Bob Cat leaped over into the holly bush, and, having no gloves on, he was pricked and stung and stung and stung very much, indeed. So greatly so that he howled:

"Oh, wow! This is bad luck for me!" And he jiggled around in the midst of the holly bush and couldn't get out for ever so long.

"Well, it's good luck for me!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. Then the bunny gathered holly, with gloves on his paws so he wouldn't be stuck, and then the bunny hopped to his bungalow with the Christmas green and candy. So everything ended happily.

And if the good fish doesn't stay out so late that the tank freezes over and the poor thing can't get under water to go to bed, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's Christmas nuts.

WASHINGTON BOYS HERE FOR BATTLE

Gonzaga College Eleven
Arrive Prepared for Virginia Team

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—With every man in excellent condition and ready for their game against the University of West Virginia at San Diego Christmas day, members of the Gonzaga university football team, accompanied by coaches and officials, arrived in Los Angeles today en route to the southern city.

Charles Dorais, coach of the squad, piled his men into automobiles upon their arrival here and motored over to Bovard field, where he put them through a stiff workout before continuing the journey late this afternoon to San Diego.

Watching his grid artists practice, Dorais declared that he was looking for a tough battle, but there was no doubt in his mind as to the outcome of the contest. "My boys realize that the mountain has a wonderful record and a wonderful team," said Dorais. "But we are going to present something new on the field Christmas day that should prove a surprise."

Guests of L. A. Club
Immediately after the workout the Gonzaga squad was taken to the Los Angeles Athletic club, where they were the guests of the Loyola alumni at an informal luncheon. At 3 o'clock they boarded the train for San Diego and will arrive in the border city tonight.

While the Gonzaga squad was in Los Angeles today their Christmas day opponents—West Virginia, were aboard the California Flyer several hours out of Kansas City. The squad missed connections at Chicago yesterday and as a result were delayed several hours and their whole traveling program was changed.

According to present plans they will stop over in Los Angeles on their arrival here Saturday afternoon and put in a couple of hours' practice work at Bovard field before continuing the trip to San Diego.

Penn State's team is due here Sunday night.

Corvallis Team to Battle Scott Squad

CORVALLIS, Ore., Dec. 21.—The undefeated Corvallis High school eleven will meet the champion Scott High school team of Toledo, Ohio, here on New Year's day, it was announced today. Medford High school endeavored to secure the game, but failed to guarantee $5,000. The Toledo team will leave Christmas day and arrive here on December 30.

The German landlord of the Rumanian embassy in Berlin bricked up the door and stood outside to tell the tenants they could not enter until six months' rental in arrears had been paid.

OUR CHOICE FOR THE ALL-AMERICAN

By Wood Cowan

Kilbane, Wilson and Willard Are Barred

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—William Muldoon announced today that so long as he is chairman of the New York Athletic commission, neither Johnny Kilbane nor Johnny Willard will be allowed to defend their disputed titles in this state, nor will Jess Willard be permitted to appear in any bouts here.

The statement throws a shadow upon the proposed bout between Kilbane and Eugene Ciriqi, the Frenchman, for the world's featherweight title in May. It also embarrasses the attempt of Willard to get a return bout with Jack Dempsey somewhere in this vicinity.

The edicts, however, are regarded here as of temporary force in that it is expected Muldoon will be deposed on or about January 1 and a new commission installed.

SEARCH FOR ASSAILANT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—With the physicians' report today that the condition of Mrs. Maude Waite is slowly passing the danger point police redoubled their efforts to find some trace of the person who snugged her with a gas pipe while she and her seven-year-old daughter were house hunting.

Sparr Heights Sales Total About $700,000

The Francis - Barnum - Walters company, the owners and subdividers of Sparr Heights, are conducting a whirlwind selling campaign, having sold some $700,000 worth of property in the last twelve weeks.

There are only a few lots left in their first unit and they announce that all of those remaining unsold after Sunday, the 24th instant, will be automatically advanced from 10 to 20 per cent in price.

These are the only moderate price lots that will be offered for sale and it behooves those who are desirous of possessing one to act quickly.

The second unit has but recently opened up and will soon be built up with beautiful homes, every one of which will contribute an increased value to those who were wise enough to buy in the first unit, many of whom have received already offers at a figure far in advance of the original purchase price.

Compulsory vaccination in Denver as a preventative of smallpox, was declared in effect recently. There have been 100 deaths from smallpox in Denver within a few weeks.

Senate Tangle Will Grow Worse, Said

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The legislative snarl in the senate gave indication today of becoming worse after the Christmas holidays when the upper chamber is expected to plunge into a turmoil of debate on the proposal for another armament conference attached by the house to the navy supply bill.

When the senate naval affairs committee took up the bill today it was planned to have the senate begin consideration of it immediately after Christmas to the exclusion of the shipping and other legislation.

Meanwhile there appeared little prospect of a vote on the motion of Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, to supplant the ship subsidy bill with his agricultural relief measure. It was suggested that both shipping and agricultural legislation might have to wait on the disposition of the navy bill and the discussion of armament and other international questions which it is considered likely to provoke.

LADY FRAZER GETS DIVORCE

Besides these players Heine Sand of Salt Lake has been sold to the Philadelphia Nationals by Manager Duffy Lewis. Just what the price is for Sand has not yet been disclosed but it is expected to be round $25,000 as well as the addition of four players.

The Vernon team has a deal pending for the sale of Jackie May and rumor has it that $100,000 is the price asked for May, the leading pitcher of the Coast league during the past season. Another player for sale, providing Cal Ewing of Oakland can get his price, is Arlett, a pitcher, but the

The Sport Crucible By Davis J. Walsh International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Although Tex Rickard will not admit it, there is a fierce famine on in New York and the starving, famished $15 a night species of fight fan is fast dying out on account of malnutrition.

For the first several months of the present indoor campaign, exactly one title bout has been held. On that occasion Jack Britton received less than $35,000 for losing his welterweight title to Mickey Walker. Then and there, the rest of the big timers, who had not already rushed over, proceeded to do so with unseemly haste. They have found that it is considerably more beneficial to lose one's title out-doors, if at all.

If the transaction is conducted in the broad, open spaces, many merry villagers, even at a nominal sum per head, contribute to the size of the purse. Indoors, at Madison Square garden, it has become a question of charging $15 as top price and doing business to a semi-filled audience or playing to a capacity crowd in which no man can count seven dollars and fifty cents when buying a ticket.

The time was not so long ago when $15 prevailed as the top price at ordinary bouts, such as that between Pepper Martin and Babe Herman. But in the meantime, your Broadway sport has discovered that $15 will buy all manner of necessities from 1500 shoe laces to the privilege of sitting in a super club for an hour or less.

Only for a champion and a principal contender can such a price be charged now. That is one of the contributing factors in the suspension of Johnny Kilbane. When Kilbane was challenged, a blanket of snow lay over Boyle's Thirty Acres and the Polo grounds, and in consequence, his demand for $100,000 could not be met. It is also the principal reason that Benny Leonard is doing all the talking with his mouth, closed, however, when some one mentioned Charley White and Lew Tendler.

The World Over By FRANKLIN B. MORSE PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

With the announcement intention of Molla Mallory again to play at Wimbledon for the world's women's tennis title, now held by Miss Suzanne Lenglen of France, it remains to be seen whether the latter will adhere to the report she sent out that she was out of tennis competition for all time.

If Miss Lenglen reconsiders her decision it will add a lot to the interest of the tournament, and tennis followers are hoping for this to come about. Her withdrawal was based on considerations of health. It will be remembered that she broke down completely two years ago while in the United States.

Willie Kamm, the $100,000 infielder of the San Francisco ball club has his gloves made specially to order and he is very jealous of them. We mean the glove or mitt he uses on the diamond. He has a selection of four of these which he uses in rotation and they cost him $50 each, making a layout of $200 for the four mitts, which is probably a hand wardrobe that few professional ball players can boast.

That another record baseball season is expected in 1923 is indicated by the advance orders that have been given out for baseball goods. Manufacturers of bats, ball and other baseball paraphernalia are working overtime, in one Louisville factory, it is said they are turning out 10,000 bats a day, and all other things in proportion.

SHIP SUBSIDY BILL
WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Definite announcement that the ship subsidy bill will be laid aside as soon as the senate banking and currency committee reports an agricultural credits bill was made in the senate by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee in charge of the subsidy measure.

LOCAL MEN FORM BUILDING AGENCY

New Association Will Help People to Erect Homes; Opens Saturday

With the opening Saturday of the Glendale Building & Loan association at 212½ West Broadway, a new and powerful factor for the upbuilding of this city, is introduced by experienced, capable men of sound business judgment.

These men have faith in Glendale of today, and vision for Glendale of tomorrow. They are residents here. Their interests are centered here. Their money will be spent here. They are of Glendale and for Glendale, and their association is at Glendale's disposal. It is purely a home institution, without affiliations elsewhere.

Believing that wealth is founded on thrift, the Glendale Building & Loan association opens its doors as an aid and inducement for thrift. To this end, its primary purpose will be to assist prospective home-owners of Glendale and the surrounding territory in realizing their dreams for dwellings of their own. To the man who has a clear lot the association will loan sixty per cent of the valuation for building purposes. In addition, the association will help in every way possible in the construction of the home, and will leave no steps untaken to assure the owner that his home will be erected without loss.

Money Payable Monthly
 The money that is loaned will be repayable in monthly installments of $14 for each $1000 borrowed, said sum including interest on the balance of the loan. As a certain portion of this constantly applies against the principal, the debt will gradually be wiped out, leaving the builder with his dream of a home realized. Or should he care to clear the encumbrance sooner, all or any part of the loan may be repaid at any time.

Realizing that the accumulated savings of the many furnish the capital without which large enterprises could not thrive, and that the combined wealth of the people makes possible the accomplishment of daily miracles of the modern world that no individual himself could achieve, the Glendale Building & Loan association is issuing, as another phase of its business, investment certificates in denominations of $100 and multiples thereof, payable in cash or at the rate of $1 per month, each certificate being fully paid in eighty-one months. Any number of these certificates may be purchased. The interest yield is six per cent, compounded semi-annually.

State Supervises Association
 The absolute safety of the investment is assured by the fact that the association is under state supervision. Moreover, the guaranteed capital of the association is a permanent investment, pledged as security to investors. Furthermore, all funds received are loaned only on secured real estate valued at twice the amount of the loan.

A final assurance of security is the personnel of the association. The members are: W. B. Howard, president and general manager; Rudolph Sorenson, vice-president; O. A. Danielson, secretary and treasurer; and L. B. Ankeny, H. D. Conover and M. D. Webb, directors. Four of these men are former Nebraskans, closely associated with the banking and insurance activities of that state. President Howard, particularly, enjoys the reputation of one of the leading bankers in Nebraska. He was formerly president of the Nebraska Live Stock Insurance company, of Omaha, one of the largest and most powerful institutions of its kind in the country.

Grossman-Miller Show Family Gifts

Just the things to satisfy the Christmas wishes of Dad and Mother, Grandmother and all the other members of the family are being shown in the Grossman-Miller Furniture company at the corner of North Brand boulevard and California avenue.

Everything in the furniture line is being shown in the Grossman-Miller store and a special attraction of the holiday season is the closing out of the entire phonograph stock at cost.

For the convenience of patrons the store announces a late delivery Saturday night. The store is to be open every night until Christmas.

EX-OFFICIAL WITNESS
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson administration, was a witness here before the special grand jury that is investigating war contract funds.

While the nature of Baker's testimony was not divulged, it is understood he appeared in reference to the alleged frauds against the government in construction of the army cantonments, contracts for which were let under his direction.

RESOLUTION WITHDRAWN
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The administration's resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution to prohibit the issuance of tax exempt securities by the federal, state and municipal governments was withdrawn from consideration in the house this afternoon by representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader. Mondell announced the resolution would not be placed before the house again for consideration until January.

Mystery Woman in Northcliffe Will Case

LONDON, Dec. 21.—A mysterious woman appeared at the hearing of the late Viscount Northcliffe's will case today and blocked immediate settlement.

The woman, whose name, according to police, is Mrs. C. A. Thomas, arose in the courtroom and declared that she desired to enter a caveat against the will in respect to a prior claim for certain money and property. The judge immediately adjourned the hearing for a few hours.

Today's hearing was to have been a mere formality. According to the program, the will and four codicils were to be proved. The woman said she did not claim that there was any will in her favor, but she claimed the right to have the will filed for probate set aside.

Officials declared the woman was a narcotic addict seeking notoriety.

Wallace Reid Much Better, Is Reported

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—Appearing brighter in every way and with his temperature and respiration said to be normal, Wallace Reid, star of the silver sheet, fighting a winning battle against a long illness, said to be the direct result of having been cured of the habit of using narcotics, was declared by his physicians today to be much better.

Meanwhile federal and city authorities continued their drive the slogan "Get the higher ups." It was announced here today that one of "Wally's" latest pictures would open an engagement next week at Los Angeles' most exclusive picture house.

PESSIMISM IN GERMANY
 BERLIN, Dec. 21.—Reckless optimism which has run rampant during the past week is fast giving way to new pessimism with the realization now that Uncle Sam is not going to play Santa Claus for Germany after all. All hands are now engaged in the drab task of sobering up as the result of Morgan's statement up-setting hopes of an immediate loan in America.

The disastrous result of the mad jubilee of optimism is that the people have been led to expect dropping prices, a hope that the new climb of the dollar makes impossible.

Deny Knowledge of U. S. Commission

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The British foreign office announced today that it has no knowledge of the report that the American government is going to appoint a commission to fix a new basis for reparations payments.

"No communication suggesting such a thing has been received from the United States government," it was stated at the foreign office.

"It sounds too good to be true," the official who made the statement added.

The report said an American commission would come to Europe to study the matter of reparations and submit a report on which the whole reparations question would be headed by Herbert Hoover.

It was suggested at the foreign office that it is impossible that British business interests may favor such a plan, but it was denied that the government has been asked to approve it.

U. S. Steamship Is Drifting Helplessly

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 21.—The United States shipping board steamer West Hardaway is reported as drifting helplessly about the Atlantic some 500 miles east of Halifax. The fuel supply of the ship is exhausted and the temperature in the latitude where she is drifting is below zero.

For two days the American steamer Argus tugged at the 6,000 ton hulk in an effort to tow her to a port of safety, but the heavy seas coupled with the freezing lines snapped all the hawsers. The Argus was forced to abandon the helpless ship and proceed to New York. The Hardaway is bound from Grangemouth, England, to New York.

FRANCE MAY RATIFY

LONDON, Dec. 21.—The Evening Standard today declared it had learned authoritatively that the French government has consented to ask the Chamber of Deputies to ratify the Washington naval disarmament agreement at once.

PROTESTS EXECUTIONS

DUBLIN, Dec. 21.—Feeble and weak from her protracted hunger strike, Mary MacSwiney appeared in public for the first time today and took part in the meetings held to protest against further executions of irregulars.

PLAN CEREMONY FOR DEDICATION

Sparr Heights Owners Ask Public to Attend Big Affair on Sunday

Elaborate preparations are completed for the laying of the cornerstone of the handsome Community Center building that has been dedicated to the city of Glendale by William S. Sparr, Senator Leslie E. Francis and the Francis-Barnum-Walters Co., the owners and subdividers of Sparr Heights, the beautiful 1500-acre residential tract northeast of Glendale on Sunday, Dec. 24.

The public generally has been invited to be present at that time and an elaborate program has been prepared for its entertainment. The Glendale Elks band will furnish the musical program, Mayor Spencer Robinson will represent the city of Glendale, and refreshments will be served by the Glendale Civic club.

This beautiful building, designed by A. F. Leicht of the supervisory board of architects of Sparr Heights, will be the scene of many social gatherings when completed.

Beautiful Homes
 Sparr Heights will soon be famous for its many beautiful homes. That community will be made up of cultured people and this building will afford a meeting place for those of both sections who have the same interests.

It behooves the citizens of Glendale to turn out in large numbers next Sunday for this ceremony and by their attendance show their appreciation of this splendid gift. These public-spirited men have focused their ability, experience and financial strength upon an enterprise that will add a most beautiful home section to Glendale, and bring thousands of dollars to local merchants. And Glendale citizens should not be backward in their recognition of their munificence.

SARAH BERNHARDT BETTER

PARIS, Dec. 21.—Madame Sarah Bernhardt was reported as much improved today. Her secretary stated she would take a long rest, however, before discussing any plans for the future.
